Forum iuris communis Europae

Advertising Price List No. 2
Valid as of 15 February 2001

The European Legal Forum (EuLF) provides current information on the entire range of the emerging body of uniform European law within the EU, the ius commune Europae. EuLF reports regularly on the development of international and European law, with emphasis on international business and commercial law, international private law and international law of civil procedure, industrial property rights and international and European company and tax law.

Subscribers: EuLF has a truly international readership; it is read not just in the various Member States of the EU, but also worldwide. EuLF is directed in particular at the international legal profession and practice, i.e. internationally-active law firms, legal departments of large-scale enterprises, courts, as well as at the academic practice of international, commercial and European law both across Europe and worldwide.

Publication Languages: As the only legal journal appearing worldwide in several languages, EuLF is published in three parallel language editions, presently, in German, English and Italian.
